Making Disciples - Every Nation and Every Generation

Dear Family and Friends

I hope you are doing well. The weather has turned, coats have come out and heaters have been turned on! It's a bit of a shock after the warm Summer we had.

In my last newsletter I talked about new seasons. We had just gone out onto our university campuses giving out free dish soap inviting students to church. The week after I sent out that letter, we had a team from one of our Every Nation churches in the States (Grace Covenant), arrive for 10 days to do outreach on our campuses and in the community around our church.

With this team, we continued engaging with students by blessing them with dish soap and inviting them to church. In the community, we invited kids and parents to our Halloween substitute – Marshmalloween.

We were so blessed to have this team come alongside us. They were such an encouragement to our student ministry, and the result of their outreach in the community was over 100 children attending our Marshmalloween! Many of them came inside our church building for the first time.

Our student Connect Group also launched around this time. It has been so amazing to see students from universities across London building relationships with each other and growing in their relationship with God. Here's a picture of our Tuesday night group with some of them missing out of the photo.

You will be happy to know that my energy levels are pretty much back to normal! It's a good thing because things have been super busy as I get used to my roles and routine. I feel like I am now in a flow with my EN West Campus role. I am loving working with our young leaders teaching them how to make disciples who make disciples. I'm excited to see what God is going to do in this next year.

I'm also continuing to meet with our European campus leaders online in groups and one to one. We have just started working on our ENC European Conference in March of next year!

In 10 days, I will be heading to the south of England to lead a Campus Mission in Bournemouth for a week. We are trusting God to help us launch a campus ministry in our Every Nation Church there. Prayers are appreciated as we prepare to plough new ground on the university campuses in that town!

Over the next few months, I will be slowly preparing to take over our Connect Group ministry in January. Please pray for me as I continue to learn everything I need to know as well as finding a balanced routine to do all my roles.

I would also appreciate prayer for my finances. I have recently lost some significant monthly income and with the cost of living these days I am trusting that God will supply what is needed – as He always does!

Lots of love
